

II. EXTRAORDINARY SESSION HELD AT TUNIS

In its resolution 39/93, the General Assembly approved the recommendation of the Special Committee that it should hold an extraordinary session away from Headquarters in 1985 as part of the commemorative activities for the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Declaration.

On the basis of the consultations held in early 1985 in that regard by its Chairman and availing itself of the readiness of the Government of Tunisia to be host to the Committee's extraordinary session, the Special Committee decided to hold the coccien at Tunism. The Consists continued to defy the international will and refused to comply with Security Council resolution 435 (1978). The Preform regime never would have been able to pursue such a policy if it had not known that it could act with impunity and with the help of those who tried to marginalize the debate on the Namibian question and reduce the question of decolonization to problems external to the United Nations plan for the independence of Namibia. The international community should continue to exert the necessary pressure and seek means to confront the challenge posed by the racist régime and make it abandon its unilateral initiatives, which run counter to Council resolution 435 (1978). It was clear that the Special Committee still had duties to perform and great efforts to make, some of them urgent, given that the Declaration had still not been fully implemented.

In his opening address, the Chairman stressed that in the course of the 25 years since the adoption of General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV), there had been extraordinary developments in the struggle of the colonial peoples to achieve self-determination and independence. The very composition of the membership of the United Nations in 1985 was eloquent testimony to that fact: more than one third of the 159 Members of the Organization were former colonies. During the period over 50 former colonial and other dependent Territories had acceded to independence. That would not have been possible had it not been for the courageous,

It reaffirms that Security Council resolution 435 (1978) remains the only acceptable basis for a peaceful settlement of the Namibian question and reiterates the need to proceed to its immediate implementation without modification, qualification or pre-condition. 13 December 1984 enjoining Member States to refrain from importing armaments Ercy Conth after mbs sequicition of nuclear weapons canability by the Pretoria régime adds yet another dangerous dimension to an already grave forthwith. 16. The Special Committee deplores the continuing collaboration of certain Western and other countries with the racist régime of South Africa in the political, economic, military and nuclear fields. It reiterates its

African Administration. The Committee reaffirms that the activities of all foreign economic interests in Namibia are considered to be illegal under international law and that all such interests would be liable to pay damages to the future lawful Government of an independent Namibia. بالأساف لأفيا القياسيم بتعفيتيني بالأع المتألم مقسمسمس against any dilatory manoeuvres and fraudulent schemes of the illegal occupation régime aimed at frustrating the legitimate struggle of the Namibian brutal suppression of the oppressed majority in South Africa itself, while encouraging the apartheid régime to commit blatant aggression against independent neighbouring States. The Committee calls once again upon the International Monetary Fund to terminate all co-operation with and assistance to the apartheid régime and urges all States members of the Fund to take appropriate action towards that end. It further calls upon all other international organizations and institutions to bear in mind and respect the position taken by the United Nations on the question of Namibia and to refrain from any form of co-operation with the Pretoria régime.

26. The Special Committee notes with satisfaction the pressures being exerted by non-governmental organizations in a number of Western countries to promote the severance of economic and other links with racist South Africa, as part of a concerted public campaign against the scourge of apartheid. It believes that these efforts at the public level are of crucial importance in the mobilization of universal support for the Namibian cause and the struggle against apartheid. The Committee urges Member States to take appropriate steps with a view to strengthening such campaigns and encouraging those organizations also to work for comprehensive mandatory sanctions against South Africa. The Committee calls upon all Member States to abide scrupulously by relevant United Nations resolutions and decisions and to impose voluntary sanctions against South Africa in order to isolate the racist régime.
