The Sixth Committee of the 72st Session of the United Nations General Assembly On:

"Measures to Fliminate International Terrorism"

(Agenda Item 108) New York, 3 October 2017

In the name of God, the Compassionate, the Merciful

Mr. Chairman,

At the outset, I would like to join the previous speakers in congratulating you and the members of the bureau on your deserving elections. Our felicitation also goes to Mr. Voronkov for assuming the leadership of the newly established Office of Counter-Terrorism. We do hope that the UNCT architecture will improve in a way that not only ensures enhanced coordination

"terrorism" provide a safe haven for terrorist groups and their affiliates to freely grow, recruit and perpetrate unspeakable atrocities. Another longstanding issue to examine is the endemic and age-old problem of foreign invesion and occupation and what it has brought in its walks. The coverty year state of occupation of Palestine is the most pressing. This has been further compounded by the exeternationalitical and military interventions in order to processes normativate and arrests their Indeed, misperceptions and erroneous assumptions may temporarily defuse domestic anxieties. They do not, however, help in the actual resolution of global crises. Such
