

Toronto's Water

Water is essential for life, and Toronto's water supply is a vital resource. The city's water is sourced from Lake Ontario and treated to meet the highest standards of safety and quality.

The water treatment process involves several stages, including filtration, disinfection, and distribution to homes and businesses across the city.

For more information about Toronto's water services, visit www.toronto.ca/water.

